GENERAL STRIKE MOVEMENT SPREADS RAPIDLY

with excitement. All are watching to see what the Spartacists do. It is declared that a fall of the new government and the return of Herr Nothke might lead to Bolshevism.

Friedrich Ebert, President of the old German government, refused to enter into negotiations with the Spartacist leaders by Imperial Chancellor Wolfgang Kapp.

Germany has two governments. The new regime holds Berlin. The old government was temporarily established at Weimar, Saxony, but is reported already to have moved to Stuttgart, in Württemberg. Both sides are preparing for a bitter struggle for national supremacy.

Bavaria, Baden and Württemberg are said to be supporting Ebert and Bauer—the chiefs of the old government. The new regime is reported to be spreading rapidly throughout the country. The Spartacists are reported to be spreading rapidly throughout the country.

All political factions and the women are becoming involved in the strife.

The general strike is spreading rapidly throughout the country. The Spartacists are reported to be spreading rapidly throughout the country.

General Ludendorff, one of the military leaders of the country, called upon General Bauer von Jülich to command-in-chief of the new government army, but it is not known if he offered his support to the new regime.

The Imperial Chancellor has promised to issue a "National Assembly" to elect a new government.

Kapp Promises to Carry Out Terms of Treaty

Berlin, March 12.—The new government recognizes all financial obligations and the foreign policy of Germany will remain unaltered, declared Chancellor Kapp today. He described the present situation as being purely internal. Dr. Kapp said: "The terms of the peace treaty will be carried out in every respect which is compatible with our national honor and fidelity, and so far as it does not mean the nation's suicide."

"Strikes and sabotage will be ruthlessly suppressed. The new government guarantees the freedom of religion and the re-establishment of religious educational institutions."

He described his government as a "civil dictatorship."

"A monarchy is far distant from our thoughts," he said.

"The Ebert government was powerless; it was filled with corruption and those who have taken over the government have fulfilled a patriotic duty to the Fatherland."

Germany is ready and anxious, he asserted, to establish cordial relations with the Western powers, and particularly with the United States.

Kapp's office declared that he had reviewed General von Hindenburg's British army of occupation, who appeared on the scene in the morning.

SINCE GETTING

Tells Senators He Was Kept in Dark Regarding Crossing of Troops

Washington, March 12.—A woman in Paris knew of the sailing of the first convoy of American troops to France in 1917 before the American naval officers in Europe, Admiral Sims revealed today. The woman's testimony before the Senate investigating committee.

"The first knowledge I received that the first convoy had actually sailed was in the course of a social conversation with a woman."

"Undoubtedly the woman's husband's business friends in New York had called him in some sort of a casual way."

Admiral Sims said that the German knew our navy code which had been used in peace for years, and that it was "hard to believe otherwise that the enemy knew about the movements of these forces."

"I wish to make it perfectly clear that I make no criticism whatever of the command of the troop convoys. Such confusion and difficulties as arose were the result of the plan given to him by the Navy Department."

"The whole scheme of troop convoys showed a complete disregard and ignorance of convoy methods and of our experience in the submarine danger zone."

"American troops received no protection that the allies were able to give their own troops on the high seas throughout the war," Sims asserted in pointing out that troop protection was the first essential of a successful campaign."

CRIPPLES READY TO PROTEST

Hear Rumor of Unfavorable Report on Commission for Their Welfare

Several hundred crippled Boston men and women are planning to besiege the State House tomorrow following a rumor that the social welfare committees of the Legislature will report unfavorably on a bill to establish a permanent commission for the welfare of the crippled in the State.

Crippled Union, said today that crippled persons are increased because of the anticipated unfavorable report. The bill to have appointed a permanent commission for the crippled was drawn and introduced by former Congressman Frederick S. Delrick. A commission appointed by Governor Coolidge and headed by Payson Smith, chairman of the Board of Education.

reported favorably on proposed legislation to aid cripples.

"Several hearings were held and we were led to believe that we would be given a permanent commission," said Mr. Dodge, "but now we are told to expect an unfavorable report. There are 50,000 cripples in Massachusetts, and they should be looked after as the blind are looked after. They should be helped to obtain employment that will suit them, and

The proposed bill would set aside $30,000 a year for the benefit of the crippled commission.

Bunker Hill Lodge of Machinists Declares for U. S. Merchant Marine

The following resolution, commending the action of William Randolph Hearst in preventing foreign aggression by the sale of American merchant ships to British interests, was adopted by the Bunker Hill Lodge of Machinists, No. 884.

"Whereas, the transport, George Washington, has been assigned to the Boston Navy Yard to be recommissioned by the Navy Department in place of the battleship, USS Oregon, and

"Whereas, the assignment has been the direct result of the patriotic and public-spirited action of William R. Hearst, citizen and journalist, through exposure in the public press, under his direction, of the un-American and unpatriotic action of the United States Shipping Board in an attempt to dispose of foreign merchant ships under its control;

"Resolved, That we commend the action of William R. Hearst in compelling, by powerful methods, the recognition of the rights of American people against the aggression of foreign interests whose sole purpose is to destroy American shipping under the flag of the United States, and be it further

"Resolved, That we urge all patriotic citizens to rally to his support in promoting an American merchant marine, in order that American industries may flourish and enjoy the American doctrine of freedom of the seas; and be it further FAVOR SIGNIFICANT MARINE. "Resolved, That we, the machinists of Bunker Hill Lodge, in meeting an emergency, do hereby inform, and urge all those persons who, by their action in preventing the sale of the seized merchant vessels, rendered a valuable service to the United States.

"And thus, we heartily commend the action of our National House and Senate in coming forward with timely legislation, and we extend our sincere approval of the proposed action, namely: the addition of those twenty-eight ships to our merchant marine, thereby safeguarding still further our national existence, and be it further resolved:

"That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to William R. Hearst, the press, and that they be inserted in the minutes of Bunker Hill Lodge, No. 884, A. O. U. M.

"Respectfully submitted, William R. Hearst, Chairman, Committee on Resolutions.

"John P. Neill, recording secretary.

Sunday Sports May Go Before Voters

That the initiative and referendum will be used to put the question of Sunday baseball and other amateur sports directly up to the voters was announced today by the Lord's Day League.

The announcement was made by Rev. Martin D. Knowland. The fact that I and it, petitions are being circulated by the League, was announced at the headquarters of the league.

The Lord's Day League will use the referendum form to place the question of Sunday sports before the voters at the next election.

The League has given a chance to approve or disapprove it at the November State election. The League requested every effort to legalize Sunday sports.

FATAL SHOOTING UNDER PROBE

Physician's Report Differs From Evidence of Witnesses Who Saw Man Killed

Eight witnesses of the shooting of Vincent Napolitano, at the home of Joseph Martorano, No. 12 Chalmers street, East Boston, were today examined by Captain James P. Hickey and Patrolman John McGrath of the East Boston police station.

Napolitano died after an operation to remove the bullet, at the East Boston hospital, which was an accident.

According to the witnesses the fatal shooting was an accident. Napolitano was hanging up his coat, in which was an automatic revolver. The gun dropped to the floor and was discharged. The bullet entered the abdomen and took a downward course. According to the police, if the revolver was discharged when it fell to the floor, it would then be impossible for the bullet to take other than an upward direction.

The questioning today was recorded by a stenographer. Martorano, the police said, could not be found. A warrant for his arrest charging manslaughter has been granted.

The fatal shooting occurred at No. 12 Chalmers street, North End.

PUTS CANDIDACY UP

Patrolman Hugh L. McNabb said he bought a half pint of whiskey in the store for $1.50.

BOSTON BABES HEALTHY

Condition Handicaps Harvard and Tufts Medical Schools.

Says Dr. Curtis

The work of the medical schools at Harvard and Tufts is being handicapped by the marked absence of sick babies in Boston during the past few years, according to Dr. Robert D. Curtis, a Beacon street physician.

The tenacious work of the valid scientific associations is the cause ascribed for this improvement.

The common sight of a few years ago, a new-begotten or half-grown youngster, as becoming a rarity, especially in the congested sections of the city, is now being replaced by a large number of deformed or diseased children, formerly brought to the clinics of the medical schools, the institutions are now forced to carry on a careful search to secure a sufficient number of subjects.

Dr. Curtis says that Boston is far above the average in child health. Infantile diseases, due mainly to defective feeding, were at the lowest point on record during the past summer.

The twenty patients, in the various parts of the city, operated by the Baby Hygiene Association, came in for a high compliment from Dr. Curtis. He said: "Boston is now reaping the benefit of the work of the Baby Hygiene Association."

Years ago this work was done by the liquid-food period. Nothing was then heard from the school doctor. The result was an abnormally large number of children with well-developed (though trouble or tuberculosis) added materially to the work of the school, leaving the pupils in poor shape to carry on their studies.

"There is no excuse for a sick or deformed child entering the public schools. Through the machinery of the Baby Hygiene Association, every Boston baby can be examined by trained physicians and nurses."

ARMY ESSAY PRIZE FOR NORTH ANDOVER BOY

Sherman E. Golden, of the Johnson High School, North Andover, is the winner in the Boston United States Army Recruiting District of the Army Essay Contest on "What Are the Benefits of Citizenship in the U. S. Army." His essay will be forwarded to Washington by Lieutenant Colonel F. B. Shaw. Golden's essay is the best essay from four counties, Northford, Suffolk, Essex and Middlesex. In addition to competing for the national prize, Golden also won the building lot in Andover, offered as first prize by General Shaw's district, given by George A. Northbridge, Catherine L. Pennington, and the Johnson family.

The second prize, a gold watch valued at $15, Elton E. Cole of the Middle High School has been given the third prize, a watch valued at $10, goes to Allen A. Johnson of the senior class of the Cambridge High and Latin School.

CHARLES A. BRAY FALLS DEAD IN HIS OFFICE

Charles A. Bray, head of the C. A. Bray plumbing concern, No. 71 Elliot street, died while on the way to the City Hospital today, probably of heart disease. Mr. Bray, who lives at No. 81 Riverside avenue, Arlington, arrived at his office at his usual hour today, and on going to his desk fell in a faint. Miss Robins, Francon, a stenographer, and R. D. Davis, an employee, called for aid. The ambulance took him to the hospital, but he was already dead.

Finds Public's Fight to Ride Disgusting

Street car riders are being forced back into savagery by the continued battle for standing room, according to Herbert M. Lewis, of No. 123 Belmont street.

Mr. Lewis declares conditions in the Harvard square subway are particularly disgusting. "The crowd is almost vermin in the morning," he declares.

"Manners and even common decency are forgotten. I have seen a small car register 254 passengers here, and Mrs. Philip H. Hichborn, wife of a prominent Washington lawyer and author, to show 1919, burns with the same desire for a seat."

"They have returned to the capital, the husband of their romance, which is the only thing that has been left."

MOTOR RECORDS and INTERESTES C.F. DONNOCKER Automobile Editor

PRECEDENT RECORD AUTO SALES

Boston Show Surpassing All Events for Beauty and Large Attendance

By C. F. DONNOCKER.
The crowd at the opening night of the Boston Automobile Show was one of the largest on record for a first night, despite the inclement weather, and it augurs well for the success of the exhibition from a box-office point of view.

The array of cars, trucks and accessories is one of the largest Boston has ever seen and the superb decorations add to the beauty of the whole interior display.

While it is too early to make any predictions as to the record for sales from the interest shown, it is safe to say that the dealers will be well rewarded for the long wait during the storm of the last month.

Manager Charles L. Campbell is very optimistic over the results and predicts that this show will lead all others in sales made.

While it was necessary to place some of the exhibits in the open (Ovington Street) at night, the cars, trucks and accessories shown there were of the most interesting character.

Many new and interesting devices for trucks and trailers are shown, especially among the latter. Builders have long recognized the market for a tractor for truck farming purposes and have accordingly developed these.

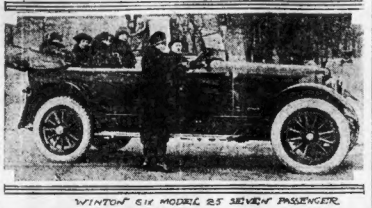

The entire receipts of the army will be turned over to the T. D. fund, and this is certainly a worthy object.

SALES BOOSTER
"Public opinion of a man is formed through a series of impressions," says J. S. Daniels, advertising manager of the Durr Motor Car Company in Dart dealers.

"A good word about you from your acquaintance is of vital value. If it is true and often repeated, it is equal to converted into cash. The name is true of the thing you sell—the measure of the demand for it depends upon how favorably and widely it is known."

"Word of mouth, if favorable, will sell as much; but word of mouth, if unfavorable, will do much more. It is the best stimulant, and even when it is the best stimulant, it often brings immediate returns and always brings them eventually."

WINDOFF SIX MODEL 25 SEVEN PASSENGER

NEW DEVICE IN WINDSHIELDS

A. R. Currier Co. Introduces "Wings" That Deflect N. E. Blizzard

During the Boston Automobile Show New England automobile owners will be introduced to windshield wings—an automobile accessory that is not merely a novelty, but of such attractiveness and utility that thousands of sets have been bought by motor fans of the Pacific Coast.

This device, an auxiliary attachment fastened to the uprights on both sides of the windshield by brackets, is adjustable to any angle, easily installed, will not rattle and is of beautiful construction, adding two inches more wind deflection to each side of the car.

In its perfected form, the Weston Auxiliary Windshield is manufactured by the Currier-Weston Company of Detroit and will be distributed through the New England States by A. R. Currier & Company of Providence, R. I.

Like so many of the most practical devices for the comfort and safety of the motorist, the Weston Auxiliary Windshield emanated from California. They have been perfected to the present improved state by P. C. Currier, an accessory engineer of eleven years experience.

Mr. Currier and A. R. Currier of the Eastern factory office have their headquarters for the Boston show at the Continental Hotel.

The best of plate glass is used in the Currier-Weston Auxiliary Windshields. The fixtures are of brass, heavily nickel plated. They are made to fit any style of standard passenger car windshield and do not interfere with the use of the spot-light or side curtains.

The Currier-Weston Company recently absorbed the Bowers Metal Plating Company, incorporating under the name of Michigan for $200,000, to a world-wide business in high grade automotive accessories of comfort and security.

REBELLION IN STOMACH
"Pape's Diapsin" at once ends Indigestion and Sour, Acid Stomach
Lumps of undigested food cause pain. If your stomach is in a revolt, if acid, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented and turned sour; head dizzy and aches, belch of gas and acids and eructate undigested food—just take a tablet or two of Pape's Diapsin to help neutralize acidity and in five minutes you wonder what became of the pain, acidity, indigestion and distress.

ORTHWAY MOTORS INSTANT FAVOR

Products of New England Corporation Attracts Attention at Auto Show

One of the truck exhibits attracting unusual attention is that of the Northway Motors Corporation. Special interest is being shown in the products of this company because it is essentially New England concern, the factory being at Salem, Mass.

The President and General Manager is James P. Cavanaugh, well known both in business and political circles in New England and President of the First National Bank of Everett. The Vice-President and Chief Engineer is R. E. Northway, designer and builder of the famous Northway motors.

PREDICT HEAVY BUSINESS.
The centralization of the Company is $2,000,000, under the laws of Massachusetts, and every indication is that an enormous business will be done this year.

The initial sales of the company's securities were completed in September last. Since then the company has created the first unit of the plant. This unit has an area of 100,000 square feet, and is equipped with the most modern machinery known to the automotive industry.

Two new buildings are in process of erection, a passenger-car building of 70,000 square feet, and a building to be used for metalurgical and laboratory tests.

The investment already made by the Northway Corporation in land and buildings is more than $100,000. The amount has been invested in tools and equipment. Materials, not including dies, patterns and fixtures, represent more than $750,000 additional. They are now employed 350 men, including some of the country's automotive, engineering and production talent.

MOTOR POWERFUL.
An examination of the characteristic features of the company's products should include mention of the powerful Northway motor, combined with which is an efficient electric starter and lighting system.

Provision is made for the comfort of the driver, whose seat is in an enclosed cab, heated with heat taken off from the exhaust, so that the man in the cab may be as comfortable as a motorist.

The truck has special springing, suspension of motor, generator, starter, radiator and battery. It has four speeds forward and reverse, and has special chassis lubrication, eliminating grease cups.

NASH POPULAR AT AUTO SHOW

"Valve-in-Head Six" Reaches Front Rank Among Machines of Merit

"America's indorsement of the Nash Six, with its perfected valve-in-head motor, is reflected in a demand for this car that is almost without parallel," says C. F. Rockwell, of C. P. Rockwell, Inc., Nash distributor.

The reception accorded the Nash line of cars at the Automobile Show is an excellent indication of the high regard on the part of the public for products of the Nash Motors Company.

"There is no question but that the Nash Six has won a place in the very front rank, and while it is not remarkable to those who know C. W. Nash or are familiar with his manufacturing methods and with his highly perfected organization, it is after all, an eloquent testimonial to the man who heads the Nash Motors organization."

The Nash Six had its initial bow to the public at the Automobile Show three years ago. When it was known that Mr. Nash was to build a car bearing his own name that fact alone was sufficient to inspire confidence in the automobile trade and of the public in general. It was taken for granted that the product would possess unusual merit.

"And when the Nash Six appeared on the market it represented everything that had been predicted for it. The time the design of the perfect valve-in-head motor of the Nash Six has remained practically unchanged."

Autocar Sales Break Company's Records

Colonel T. C. Baker, manager of the Autocar Sales and Service Company, which is the Boston factory branch of the Autocar Company of Ardmore, Pa., reports that the present demand for Autocars far exceeds that of any previous time in the history of the Autocar Company.

"The Autocar is manufactured by the Autocar Company, and Autocar branches are secured at all times of spare parts. The user of an Autocar is dealing directly with the manufacturer, who accepts the responsibility to cooperate with the truck owner from the day an Autocar goes into operation. Service records, schedule, etc. The Autocar Company's services of the new company to any party in connection with the analysis and solution of such problems."

Mr. Baker's first operations with the Autocar Company resulted in the successful formation of one of the largest motor truck freight systems in the country. He worked out their entire work, schedules, rates, tariffs, schedules, etc.

"The truck has not been out of use since our purchase in the Fall of 1917, regardless of cold conditions, weather or amount of load to be carried."—From March Traffic News.

HEADS NEW HAULAGE FORCE AT ONEIDA
W. C. Calvert, for many years superintendent of national motor equipment with Wells-Pargo and later with the American Express Company, and for many years owner and operator of large fleets of trucks and automobiles, has been appointed head of the motor haulage analysis department of the Onida Motor Truck Company, Oneida, N. Y.

The purpose of the analysis department will be to assist organizations of motor express lines, inter-city haulage companies, long distance transfer lines, and long fleet operators in their truck problems. With Mr. Calvert will be associated several other equally experienced and equally prominent truck experts, qualified to advise with operators on fleet installations, the working out of cost systems, service records, schedule, etc.

"We believe that the great success of this truck in our work was due to the fact that the rear end transmission parts were so substantially built in relation to the power of the motor that the truck is more efficient on short haul jobs than any truck we have come in contact with."

FEDERALS FOR HEAVY HAULS

Experiences of One Foundry Alone Involve Some Interesting Figures

By M. L. PULCHER, General Manager, Federal Motor Truck Company.
A silk dressing machine, which weighs over three tons, is but one of the many heavy and bulky loads hauled for the Gray Foundry, Inc., of Pulasky, Va., by their Federal truck.

This particular machine was built complete from blue prints in the Gray plant for the Champlain Silk Mills, Whitehall, N. Y. In addition to complete machines such as this, the Gray people manufacture all sorts and sizes of gray iron castings, ranging in size from light gear cases covers to engine castings weighing from one to two tons, and sometimes even more.

In the issue of the September, 1919, Federal Traffic News, a number of interesting figures were quoted, showing the saving effected after the Gray Foundry, Inc., purchased their own trucks and took their hauling away from the local carriage company who had been handling the work on contract.

In commenting on this Federal story and figures, Norman O. Knapp, president of the company, recently wrote as follows:
"We note with pleasure that you have had the figures submitted some time ago."

"Another interesting fact connected with this truck is that after completing operation from the Fall of 1917 to the Spring of 1919, through such good as only New England winters can produce, it has completed a charge for fully overhauling and replacing all worn parts, and has been in use since our purchase in the Fall of 1917, regardless of cold conditions, weather or amount of load to be carried."—From March Traffic News.

Investigate Kelly Transportation AT THE SHOW

As much motor truck efficiency as you can get is obtainable from a K40, 3/4 Ton Model Kelly equipped with double chain drive.

Flexibility of construction, instant accessibility to parts, excess power and ample strength to withstand its use—all combine to give constant operating economy in Kelly trucks.

But Kelly trucks are dependable for other reasons. They are built complete in the shops of the Kelly-Springfield Motor Truck Company. Throughout they are Kelly in make as well as in name. And they are backed by Kelly inspection standards, guarantee and resources.

Kelly Trucks are also made in FIVE OTHER MODELS From 1 1/2 to 6 Tons

Many Kellys are running regularly and economically on the streets of Boston. We will be glad to give you the history in use of these trucks and to demonstrate the ability of the K40 and the other models to solve your transportation problems. Tell your haulage troubles to our representative at the show.

A Word-Wide Good Name

This business has not grown just because the automobile business has grown.

It has grown because there has grown up in America, and all over the world, a demand for the kind of a motor car Dodge Brothers build.

It has grown because the users of these cars have given Dodge Brothers a good name as careful, conscientious manufacturers.

The result is that wherever these two words—Dodge Brothers—are seen, they stand as a symbol of exceptional motor car value.

Even when they appear, all alone, on a window, or a wall, or a bulletin board, they instantly mean something special and significant to the passer-by.

They call up a picture of a particular kind of a motor car.

Or, to be exact, a particular kind of motor car workmanship, which people have come to associate with the name Dodge Brothers.

The two words—Dodge Brothers—are an advertisement in themselves, not merely in America, but the wide world over.

More Than a Truck—
A Transportation Service

ALTHOUGH the Northway Truck is equipped with the simplest, most powerful truck motor—bore and stroke considered—yet produced—

Although heavy over-size construction has been used throughout—

Although every piece of steel, every rod and bolt is subjected to the most exacting tests; and only the finest materials employed—

Yet—its manufacturers know that the mishaps inevitable in the life of a truck will compel every Northway owner, sooner or later, to require replacement of parts and minor repairs.

To meet this emergency, the Northway Sales Company has committed itself to a program of service that is keeping every Northway Truck constantly serving its owner; a program in which it is backed by the Northway factory, located in the heart of New England, and by the integrity of the men who created that plant.

Proof that the Northway performance lives up to its promise is attested by the unsolicited letter reproduced in this announcement.

Permit us to demonstrate the Northway Truck and explain Northway Service.

CYNTHIA
A GREEK mythological origin. Cynthia, most charming of feminine names. Original it was the title given to Artemis or Diana, the moon goddess, since she and her brother Apollo, the sun god, are fabled to have been born upon Mount Cynthus in Delos. In poetic nomenclature Cynthis became the synonym for moon. Milton employs the term frequently: "While Cynthis checks her dragon yoke, Gently o'er the accustomed oak." Since Diana or Cynthia was the virgin goddess of Greek mythology, Elizabeth, was often alluded to as a virgin. In the literature of the time. The name was therefore very popular in Great Britain as a mark of honor toward royalty.

The hyacinth, which breathes forth its greatest fragrance at night, is Cynthia's flower. But the relationship of the flower and the name is even more closely and romantically expressed in the legend of the hyacinth's origin: the flower sprang from the blood of Hyacinthus, a beautiful youth beloved by Apollo, and killed by the latter through an unlucky throw of the discus; it bears upon each petal the letters "Al," the Greek exclamation of grief. Emerson speaks of "The hyacinthine boy, for whom
Morn well might break and

It is fitting, therefore, that Cynthia should have the hyacinth or jacinth for her talisman jewel. But the maid who bears the name is more than ordinarily fortunate, for she has another lucky gem, the moonstone. The deep blue hyacinth protects her from danger of accident or disease, while the moonstone with its milky opalescence promises her true love and the power to read the future in relation to love, if she places the stone in her mouth when the moon is full. Sunday is her lucky day and 3 her talismanic number.

"Why is that a successful professional woman often treats her husband as though she has him as her better one-half-one-per-cent?"

No, Geraldine, money won't buy love; but you can buy a husband and a divorce—which is how some people ever seem to get out of the average "love match" and into a divorce.

"That's the way to make me look like a dinner in keeping with our gay extravagance, we found Ned waiting for us."

"Remy's sick," he began without preamble. "I can't figure it what he's doing. I've been waiting here an hour or so. She won't be a doctor."

For a week Remy saw me. Night after night, Ned and I had dinner with us and sat at his plate until we had seen to wonder if he cared like me, he was fighting.

"Then she probably not too young," I replied, wondering quizzically if I had been right about that. "I don't think I have ever seen her before."

Measures That Would Cure Most of the Troubles and Tendencies Which Distress and Alarm Us Today

- (1) To nominate for the Presidency by direct nomination and to elect by popular vote.
- (2) To elect the Cabinet officers and make them responsible to Congress.
- (3) To deprive the President of the power of patronage; to put public offices as nearly

- as possible under Civil Service, and have appointments made by a committee of Congress.
- (4) To elect Federal Judges, including Supreme Court Justices, by popular vote.
- (5) To apply the Initiative, the Referendum and the Recall to national matters.

Democratic Party's Record Against Free Speech

By a unanimous vote, and by acclamation, the House of Representatives the other day passed the free speech, free assembly resolution offered by Senator Samuel B. Finkel. It is as follows:

That in view of the ratification of the peace treaty by a majority of the allied countries and the virtual ending of the great war, the time has now come for the repeal and removal of all restrictions imposed for the duration of the war on the freedom of speech, the freedom of the press and the right of the people peaceably to assemble.

It is now nearly two years ago that immediately after the armistice, President Wilson recommended that Congress take the harness off big business and remove all control of big business, imposed to make it patriotic during the war. But this unseemly haste to unleash the whole pack of profiteers was not accompanied by any suggestion that the ancient freedom of speech and right of peaceable assembly, doubtfully yielded up during the war, ought to be restored to the American citizens.

Not only have we seen this Democratic administration retain all the war powers over free speech, free press and free assembly, but we have seen the different departments of the administration working by false propaganda and methods of oppression and terrorism to create a state of public mind which would tolerate still further blows upon these pillars in the temple of liberty. We have seen some of the departments of our government working for more laws permitting the censorship of free speech and free press, while other departments of the government are exercising it without authority at all.

It is no wonder that Democrats feel that they are going to a funeral at San Francisco where the next Democratic convention will take place. It is no wonder that the Republicans feel that they are nominating the next President at Chicago. It is no wonder that liberal men are seeking a third party.

A distinguished member of the present administration said to an editor of the American recently that the most tragic thing in American history was the desertion by the American liberals of the President during the last two years.

The representative of the American replied that it was not the liberals who deserted the President, it was the President who deserted the liberals. They winced, but did not falter at his message to Congress, throwing away the gains of the war with respect to the public control of the methods of exploitation, but retaining all the undemocratic powers yielded temporarily only for war purposes. Nor did they desert when the administration defaulted on the railroad policy.

But when it presented us with this monstrous League of Nations and went into the business of faking the danger of revolutions, in order to get more dictatorial power, the liberals of America simply refused to follow down the depths of apostasy those leaders they had ungrudgingly followed for six years before.

Sunday Sports Would Arouse Interest in Church

The Legislative Committee has reported in favor of a law that permits athletic sports to be enjoyed between the hours of 2 and 6 on Sunday afternoons in Massachusetts.

This would permit our Massachusetts Sunday afternoons to be enjoyed with healthy outdoor exercises like Sunday afternoons in the other States of the Union.

This change does not involve any encroachment upon religious sentiment. It is not unlikely that some renaissance of religious sentiment may follow it. Very likely it will afford enterprising clergymen an opportunity to hold the younger members of their flock in closer bonds. The church thus could be made more completely a community center.

Baseball, football, basketball contests between the churches and all kinds of things which arouse the interest of the young in the church as a living vital part of the community, will certainly help the church as it will help the minds and the bodies of the young.

The prohibition of Sunday sports by the old Puritans grew more out of the spirit which Macaulay ascribed to the Puritans when they prohibited bear-baiting. He said that the Puritans prohibited bear-baiting "not because it gave pain to the bear, but pleasure to the spectators."

Right of Way to the Shores

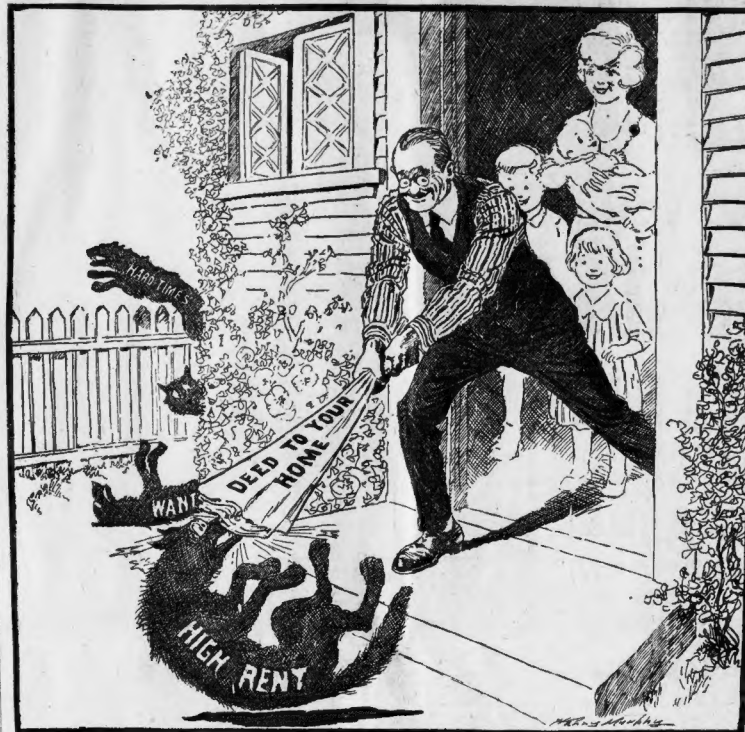

There is a bill pending in the Legislature which provides a right of way to the public for access to the great ponds and other bodies of water which belong to the public and not to private individuals, although private individuals have bought up the shores.

It is an extraordinary thing that in our blindness we are permitting private individuals to buy the shores of our waters, both inland and ocean, and gradually to exclude the great public from access to its own waters. In these days when the possession of automobiles is so general and in the days when we may expect distances to be even more diminished by the development of new methods of transportation, the accessibility of the general public to our seashores and our other bodies of water is becoming of greater and greater importance. Yet we slumber on, permitting private individuals to buy at low prices the shore lines, which some day we shall have to buy back at huge expense.

This is the history of America. We govern very much as Col. Barry, in the English House of Commons, told the British that governed America mostly by a select and general selfishness.

More Truth Than Poetry

The Ways of the Caseys

The steamship Casey, so named in honor of the Knights of Columbus, has beaten all previous records for freighters in crossing the Atlantic.

JUST leave it to the Caseys when there's heavy work to do, and you want effective action right away. They're a style of going to it and a way of bucking through without undue pretension or display.

You'll never hear the Caseys ask how hard the job may be. If it's up to them to do it, that's enough; it's "Come across, you Caseys!" Never mind the toast or tea; Who's fearing that the going may be rough?

THEY'RE a way of breaking records, not for profit or applause, and not to satisfy conceit or pride;

But through their ready service when they see the worthy cause, And by lessing needless hindrances aside.

The Caseys never falter, when the call of Duty's heard, To ask about the credit they may win; But it's "Come across, you Caseys!" and the Caseys, at the word,

Find the way to be beginning and begin.

YOU needn't thank the Caseys for the work that they have done,

Your praise is not a thing that they would ask; They have all the satisfaction that may worthily be won, For they've cleaned up on a record-breaking task.

It was "Come across, you Caseys," and the Caseys went across;

"Point out the job we've got to do," they said, They found their work and did it, thinking not of gain or loss—

Their watchword always being, "Smash ahead!"

THE good ship Casey's broken all the records in her class, And she's not in need of patching or repairs; Let her pennants blow out proudly, to be seen where others pass—

She has proved that she deserves the name she bears.

THERE'D BEEN no rain.
AND BRIGHT, warm days.
ON WHICH the sun.
WENT ON its way.
THROUGH CLOUDLESS sky.

HELD LITTLE cheer.
FOR CAMEL men.
OR RANCHER men.
WHO TILLED the soil.
AND CLEAR blue nights.

SET DEEP with stars.
AND CRESCENT moon.
THAT NIGHTLY grew.
HELD OUT no pledge.
FOR FUTURE gain.

AND SO it was.
WE SCANNED the sky.
AT SUNSET time.
ON EVERY day.
AND EVERY morn'g.

LOOKED ACROSS.
IN SEARCH of clouds.
THAT MIGHT foretell.
THAT RAIN was near.
BUT NO rain came.

AND RANCHERS mourned.
AND VILLAGE merchants.
TALKED OF loss.
AND GREAT grain fields.
WERE DRYING UP.

AND ROAMING cattle.
SHOWED THEIR ribs.
WHERE FAT had been.
AND THEN it was.
SOMEONE AROSE.

AND SENT out word.
THAT ALL should pray.
AND FIXED a day.
AND ON that day.
FROM CHILDREN'S school.

AND MEETING place.
AND RANCHER'S home.
I THANK you.

WENT FERVENT plea.
THAT RAIN be sent.
AND AFTER that.
WE WATCHED the sky.
FOR FULL three days.

AND NO rain came.
AND ONE there was.
WHO HADN'T prayed.
BUT ALWAYS watched.
AND HE it was.

TWO NIGHTS ago.
WHO KNEW him down.
AND PRAYED aloud.
AND WENT to bed.
AND WHILE he slept.

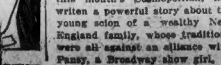

A GREAT rain came.
AND IT still comes.
AND FIELDS are moist.
AND CREEKS are full.
AND HEARTS are full.

AND THIS old man.
TWO HOURS ago.
EXPRESSED to me.
THE FIRM belief.
IT WAS his prayer.

THAT DID the work.
BECAUSE HE'D waited.
TILL IT looked like rain.
AND ALL he'd asked.
THAT THE Lord should do.

WAS TO let things go.
AND TO not interfere.

LEGISLATOR AND THOSE WHO VOTE FOR HIM

By Dr. H. S. Jelalian

HUMAN society, being constituted as it is, will always need the guidance of mature minds in the administration of its public affairs. While cultivating advanced thought for the future, our present task is to utilize the instrumentalities at hand for the amelioration of the condition of the people and for the carrying on of the public business.

If the representative form of government is the best available machinery of control, the body which represents the people, the Legislature, is its instrument to embody in law the will of the majority of the people. In the very nature of things the result of its deliberations is a matter of compromise, which is sometimes unfortunately carried to the expediency of "log-rolling" for the benefit of one section of the electorate at the expense of the other. The Legislature can be neither better nor worse than the people who elect it.

The problem of the Legislature being responsive to the nobler sentiments of the highest intelligence of the people, is a vital issue, because it touches the very foundations of our representative form of government. But who is responsible for the election of men incompetent to effectively perform the duties of a legislator?

At the time of the reign of James the Second the inefficiency of the administration of the English government was so notorious that Viscount Halifax, whose purity of purpose and character has never been questioned, once significantly exclaimed: "I have seen people kicked downstairs, but my Lord Rochester is the only person that I ever saw kicked upstairs."

Cannot this be said with equal pungency of some men who are elected to our Legislature? Some of them are simply "kicked upstairs." How can you expect to have the highest class of talent and character in the Legislature when so many of the best class of people do not condescend to go "down" to the polls to indicate their choice of candidates?

The city best governed in Great Britain is the city of Glasgow, but some of its best citizens are not ashamed to serve on its City Council. Good government cannot be gotten for nothing.

Letters to the Editor

Should Help Ireland

Editor Boston American:
As we went into the war for humanity's sake and in order to protect small nations, we should see that freedom be granted that long and greatly oppressed nation, Ireland. Why should such a large and well-known country as Ireland be overlooked whilst the small, almost unknown, starve countries are being already recognized as self-governing, independent nations?

S. S. SANBORN.

For School Use

Editor Boston American:
Editorial speech and not silence is golden in our national affairs. Useful instructions toward making America American are never too often indicated, and I would suggest adopting Hearst editorials by the different schools and colleges, which would mean another step toward extinguishing English propaganda.

State Marriages

Perhaps State marriages are not often happy, yet the fault is not always that of the young couple. Perhaps mutual friends and relatives contribute something to the unhappiness of the bride and groom.

At any rate Dana Galatin, in this month's Commonwealth, has written a powerful story about the young son of a wealthy New England family, whose traditions were against an alliance with Pansy, a Broadway show girl.

More troops are sent by the allies into Germany. The German Republic is knocked down, some other government, vague as yet, but undoubtedly reactionary, is set up.

That is not cheerful Spring news for a world that needs an end of war. The struggle between autocracy and social democracy in Germany is to start again, apparently, with the British Empire, perhaps, and the French Republic on the side of social democracy at first.

With the Emperor ruling, the Social Democrats were able to force their views on German autocracy and get concessions, with more scope like old age pensions, industrial insurance at employers' cost, etc.

What chance will autocracy have against democracy now, with the Hohenzollerns discredited, population tired of war, disease, hunger and extermination? A few weeks will tell.

The latest revolution is understood easily enough. It is an old story. France had her republic, and the second class Bonapartes, Napoleon third, humbly and gratefully became President. At the first chance he kicked out republicanism and made himself Emperor. He looked like Napoleon and succeeded until the test came. France prospered at the top, the court was magnificent, the republic unregretted.

But Bismarck was watching his chance, which came in 1870. Louis went the bogus Napoleon, up came Napoleon third, humbly and gratefully became President. At the first chance he kicked out republicanism and made himself Emperor. He looked like Napoleon and succeeded until the test came. France prospered at the top, the court was magnificent, the republic unregretted.

So it goes in history's whirligig. The German Republic and the harness-maker President are put out. Just what has come in, we don't know, but it is surely a plan to have Germany governed from above, with fast forwards for a few, and the usual "just enough" to keep the crowd, with stomachs moderately full, fairly contented. Intelligence always reaches the top for there it finds its reward.

Intelligence in Germany was at the top, close to the Emperor, just as in England it is now at the top, close to the King and just as it is here in America, close to organized money which is king here.

It was inevitable that Germany should go through this effort of the upper classes to bring back "the good old times." Success of the effort is uncertain. For Germany has millions of unemployed workmen, trained for forty years by the Social Democratic party, and it may not be so easy to turn them back under bayonet rule, but to the old system which your cap, bow your head and be grateful that you are alive."

Allies send troops to Germany and prepare for war because of increase of "uncertain conditions, especially because the new ruling power must gain popularity by at least pretending to obtain modification of the peace terms and heavy peace payments.

If the new government can pretend successfully while giving the Allies satisfactory secret assurance that it really means to pay in full and if it can hold the reins that it has seized, the Allies will be content and merely make demonstrations, to help the new government along.

One thing will interest future writers of history in this temporary destruction of the German republic. If it goes through, it will establish itself, without meaning, as a precedent for the future. It will show that a republic can be destroyed and a new republic can be established.

The answer will be that popular government in Russia intended to pay the Czar's debts. Part of that debt was held in this glorious republic and thousands of millions of the debt were held in the French Republic.

German reaction, on the other hand, while destroying republican government, pretended to make the Germans pay their huge debt. It is the outside world—the one that was interested the great republic.

"Pay what you owe, then do as you please with your people," seems to be the motto of the republicans. It might surprise Lafayette and Franklin, but they are old fashioned.
